INTRODUCTION

The existence of crime in our state is a concern not only of law enforcement but of our society as a whole. This report presents an overview of criminal activity in Delaware based on the most commonly used measure of crime in the nation, the Uniform Crime Report, Part I Crime Index.

The report presents data on the major crime classifications, Violent and Property, for the state and the counties. It compares 1983 to the previous 5 years in terms of rates, adjusting for population and growth, using 1978 as a base year of 100%.

For the first time, the Statistical Analysis Center and the Delaware State Police have combined efforts to produce a single document which reports on crime.

*The differences in totals reported here and earlier in this report are due to differences in how data is aggragated. These differences are not statistically significant.

Although the number of robberies, burglaries, larcenies, and motor vehicle thefts fell in 1983 compared to 1982, robbery was the only crime which had a drop in average amount stolen per event. The number of robberies declined by 6.1% in 1983, while the average amount stolen per robbery fell by 42.2%. Although total reported burglaries fell by 14.5% the average amount stolen per burglary remained unchanged.

Larcenies and motor vehicle thefts fell in 1983 (by 12.3% and 16.8% respectively) but experienced increases in average amounts stolen.

ROBBERY

Total robbery fell by 43 offenses or 5.9% in 1983. The distribution remained the same with the exception of highway robbery which increased from 60 to 69% of total property stolen. Residential losses fell by over 50%. However, this was mainly due to the fact that 1982 was an exceptionally high year for residential losses. Commercial losses fell by almost 70%, Gas Station losses by 50%, and Miscellaneous losses fell by 91%. Only Bank losses increased (by 49.7%).

*$19,356 of the Bank losses occurred in August alone and $2700 occurred in October.

[1]Highway robberies are those which occur on a street, alley, or roadway

All the categories of robbery had substantial changes in the average amount stolen per robbery in 1983 compared to 1982 despite decreases in the total number of reported offenses for all but one category. However, it should be noted in the table that many categories had a very small number of robberies and made up a small percentage of total robberies.

Highway robbery was the only category of robbery to increase in 1983. The number of Gas Station and Miscellaneous robberies was cut in half. Chainstore, Bank, and Gas Station robberies, while falling in total number, had increases in the average amount stolen in 1983. The average amount stolen for Highway, Residential, and Commercial robberies was almost 50% lower while the 1983 average for Miscellaneous robberies was only 25% of 1982's average amount stolen.

BURGLARY

A 13.6% decline in burglary losses occurred in 1983 compared to 1982. Business losses fell by 15% while Residential losses fell by 12.9%. There was no shift in the distribution of burglary types by target or time of day.

Although total burglaries fell by 14.5% in 1983 compared to 1982, the average amount stolen per burglary remained relatively unchanged. This was also true of the various categories of burglary. Residential, Non-Residential, Night and Day burglaries all fell by approximately 12-16% but the average amount stolen for each category did not change by a significant amount (3-8%). Unknown burglaries also fell (by 13.5%) but the average amount stolen for this category was cut in half compared to last year.

LARCENY

Larceny accounted for 63% of all crime index offenses in 1983. There were no significant changes in the distribution of larceny types in 1983. The number of larcenies fell by 12.3%. Larceny losses fell by less than 1% (.54%).

While the "under $50" and "$50-$200" categories of larceny experienced declines in the total number of crimes (approximately 15%), the average amount stolen for each did not significantly change (less than 2%). The "over $200" category had only marginal changes in number and average amount stolen (+5.2% and $60 respectively).

All the different types of larceny, except Pick-Pocket larceny, decreased in total number in 1983. Also, most had very little change in average amount stolen per larceny (less than 10%). However, Pick-Pocket, Coin-Operated Machine, and "Other" larcenies did increase substantially in average amount stolen per larceny.

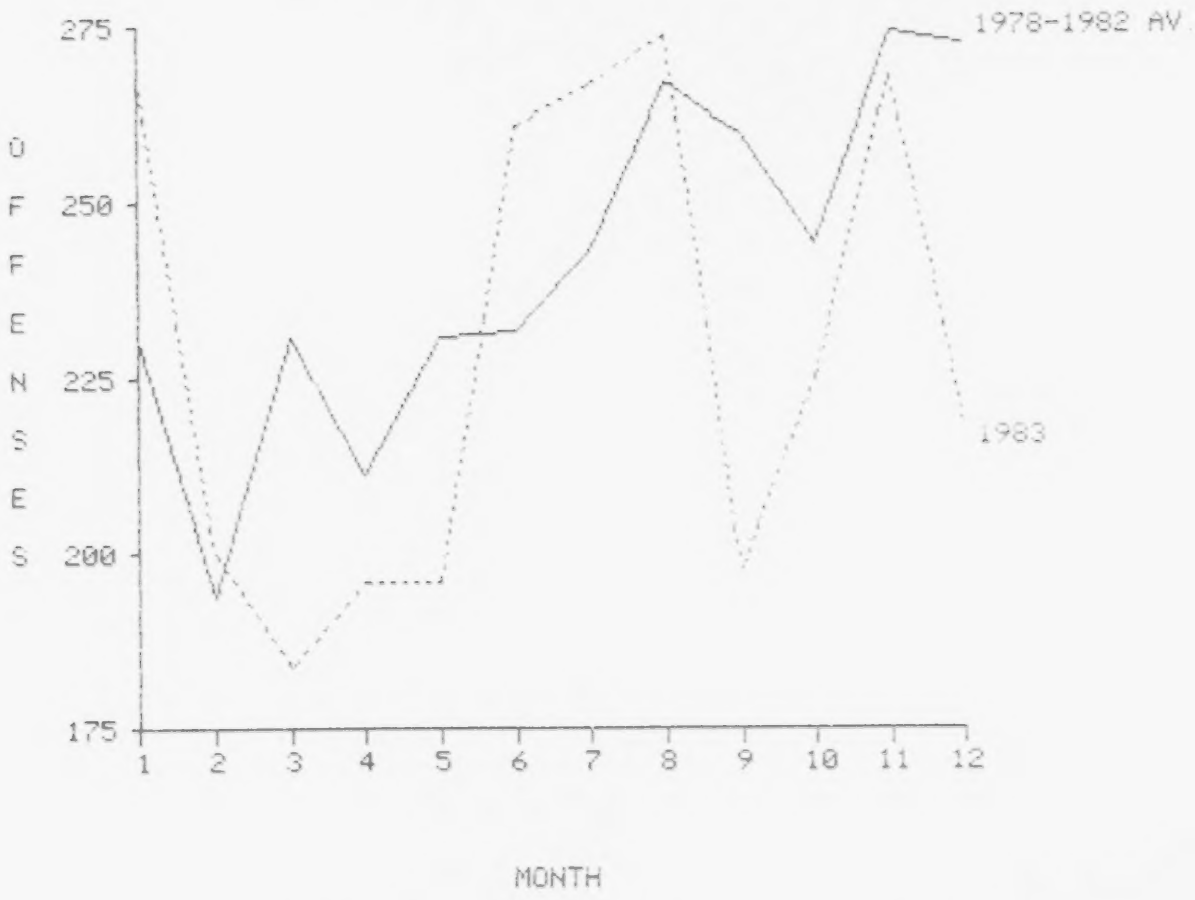
VIOLENT CRIME
(Murder, Rape, Robbery, Aggravated Assault)

Violent crime in 1983 decreased by an average of 11 offenses per month when compared to the 1978-1982 average monthly levels. The summer months of 1983 had substantially higher levels of violent crime than the other months of the year.

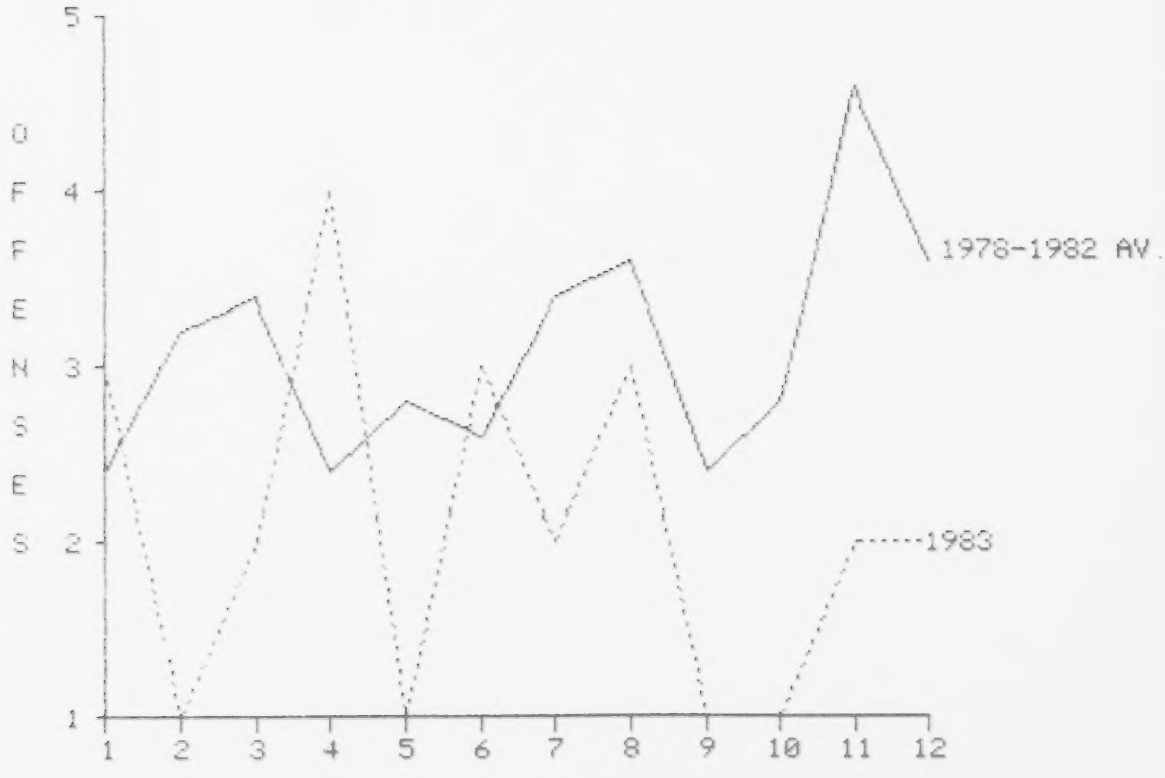
VIOLENT CRIMES 1983 VS. 5 YEAR AVERAGE



MURDER

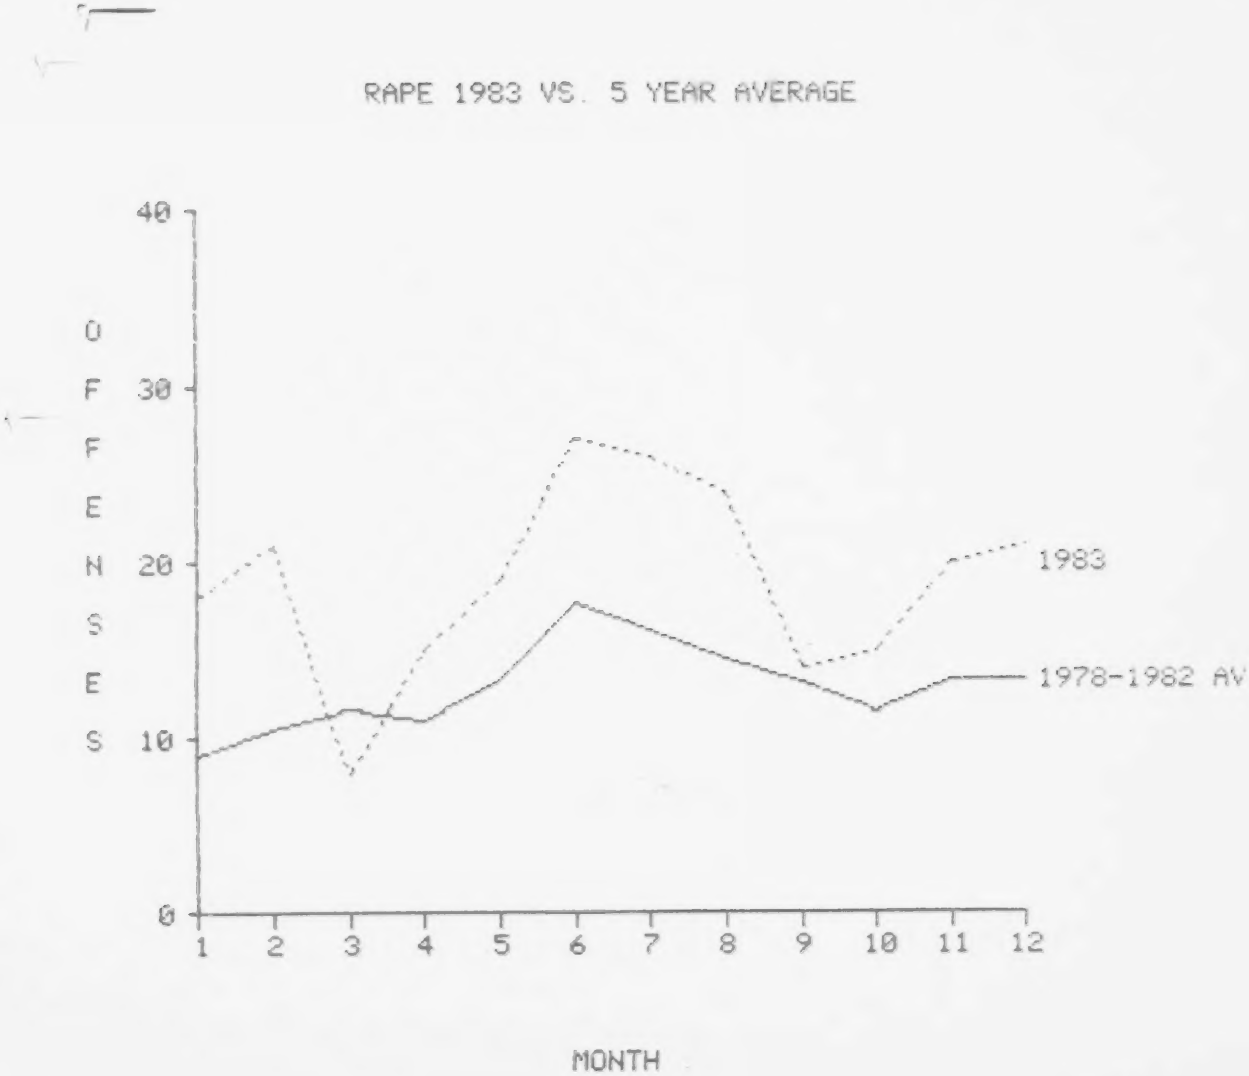
The annual total of 27 murders statewide was the lowest reported murder level in over 16 years. This is reflected in the monthly levels where 1983 monthly levels were below those of 1978-1982 by an average of 1 offense. However, a great deal of variation in monthly levels occurred in 1983 with peak levels in the summer months and very low levels in the autumn months.

MURDER 1983 VS. 5 YEAR AVERAGE



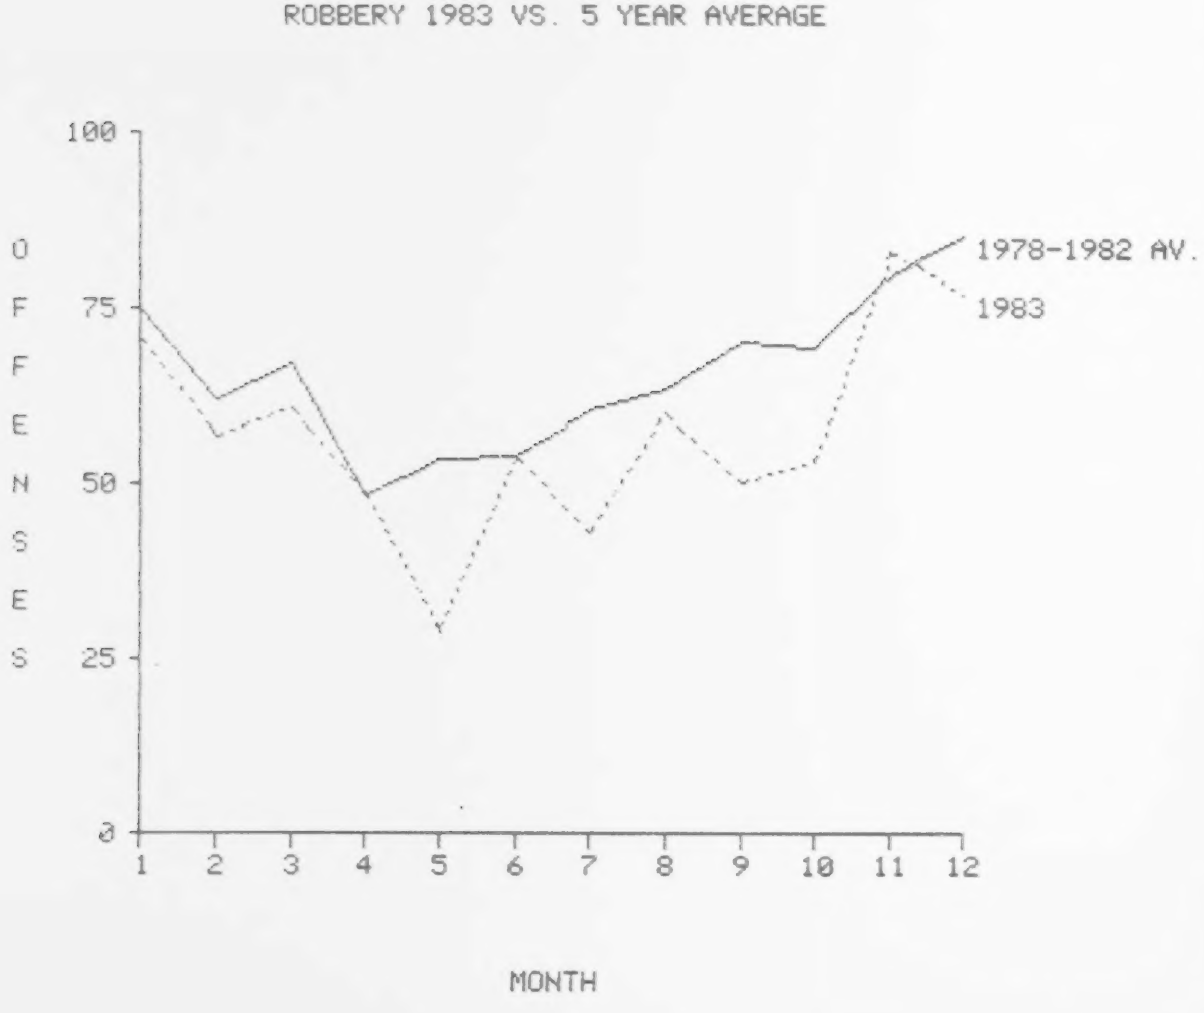
RAPE

While monthly rape levels showed the same pattern of seasonality as the 1978-1982 average monthly levels, the 1983 levels were above the latter by an average of 6 rapes per month. The highest incidence of rapes occurred in the summer months.



ROBBERY

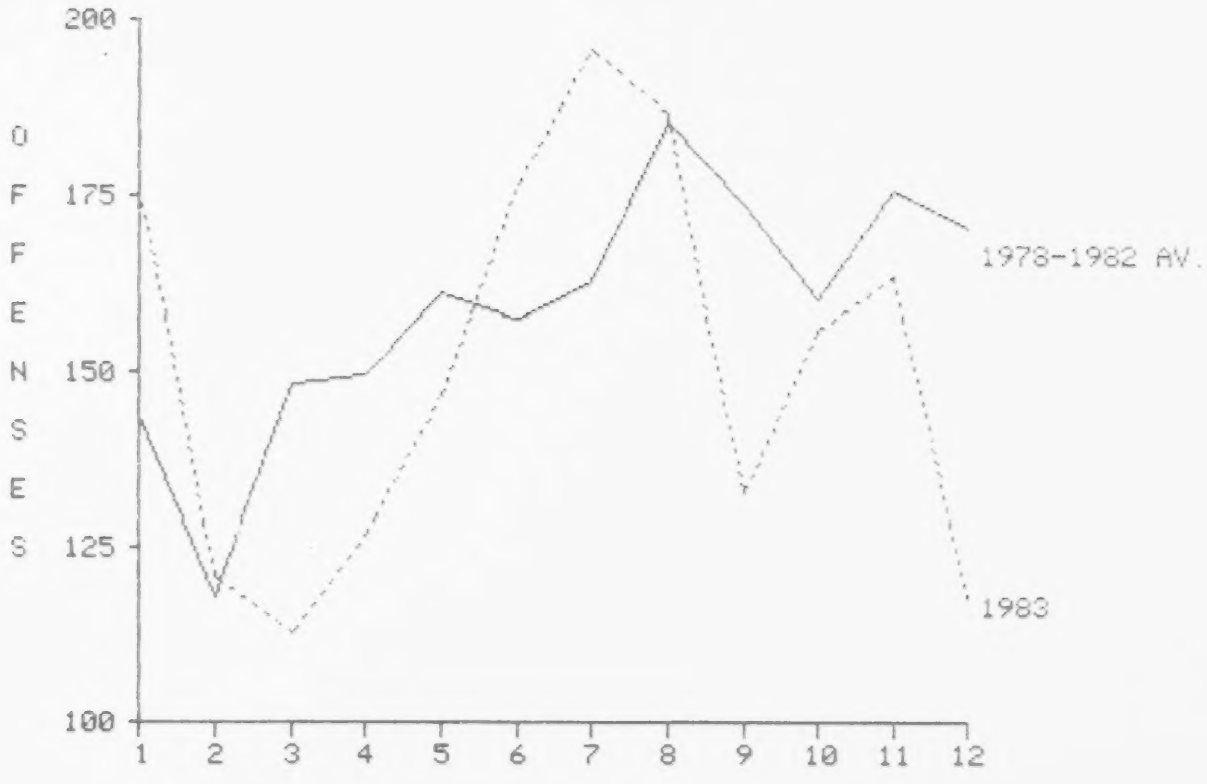
Monthly robbery levels in 1983, after a low in May, rose steadily to peak levels in November and December. However, all 1983 monthly levels, with the exception of November, were at or below the 1978-1982 average monthly levels for similar months. While the same seasonality is evident in both curves, it appears that the trend line has shifted down to lower levels of robbery.



AGGRAVATED ASSAULTS

Aggravated assault monthly levels increased rapidly from March to July, after which they fell by September to the earlier lower levels. The summer months experienced much higher levels than other months, while the spring months had the lowest reported number of offenses.

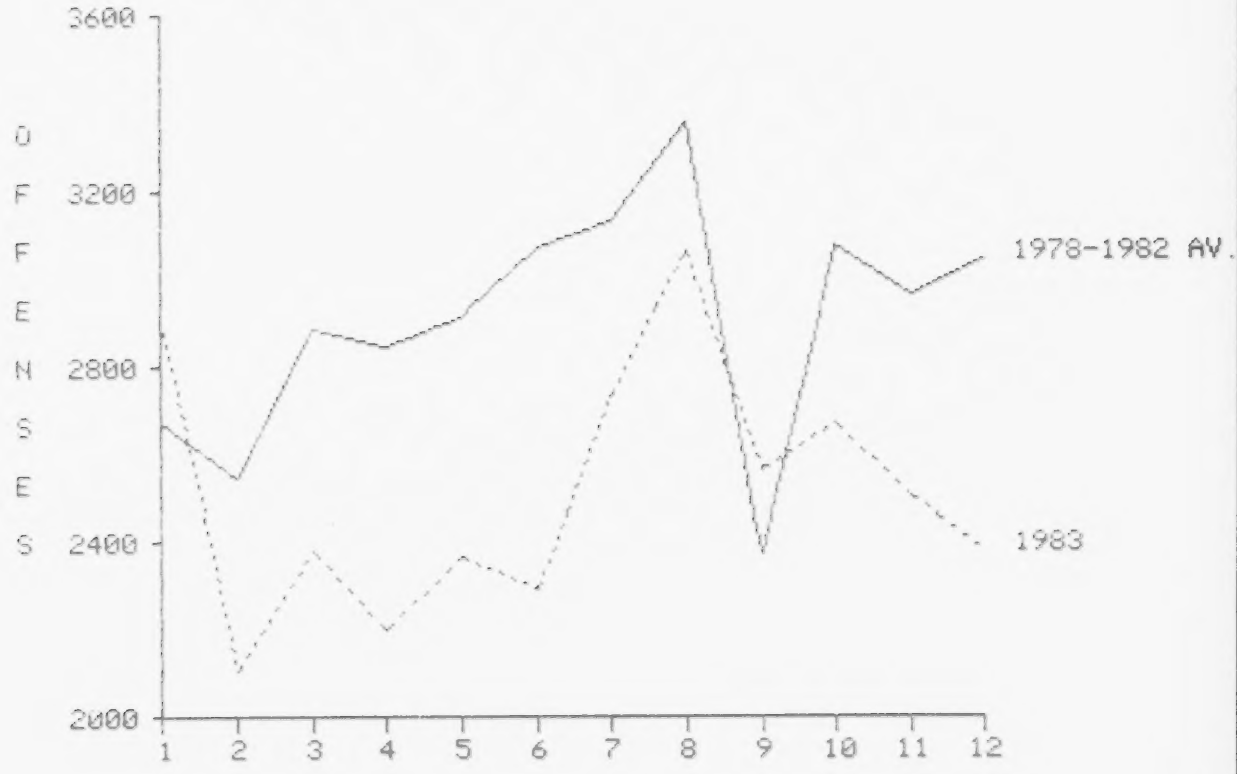
AGGRAVATED ASSAULT 1983 VS. 5 YEAR AVERAGE



PROPERTY CRIME
(Burglary, Larceny, Motor Vehicle Theft)

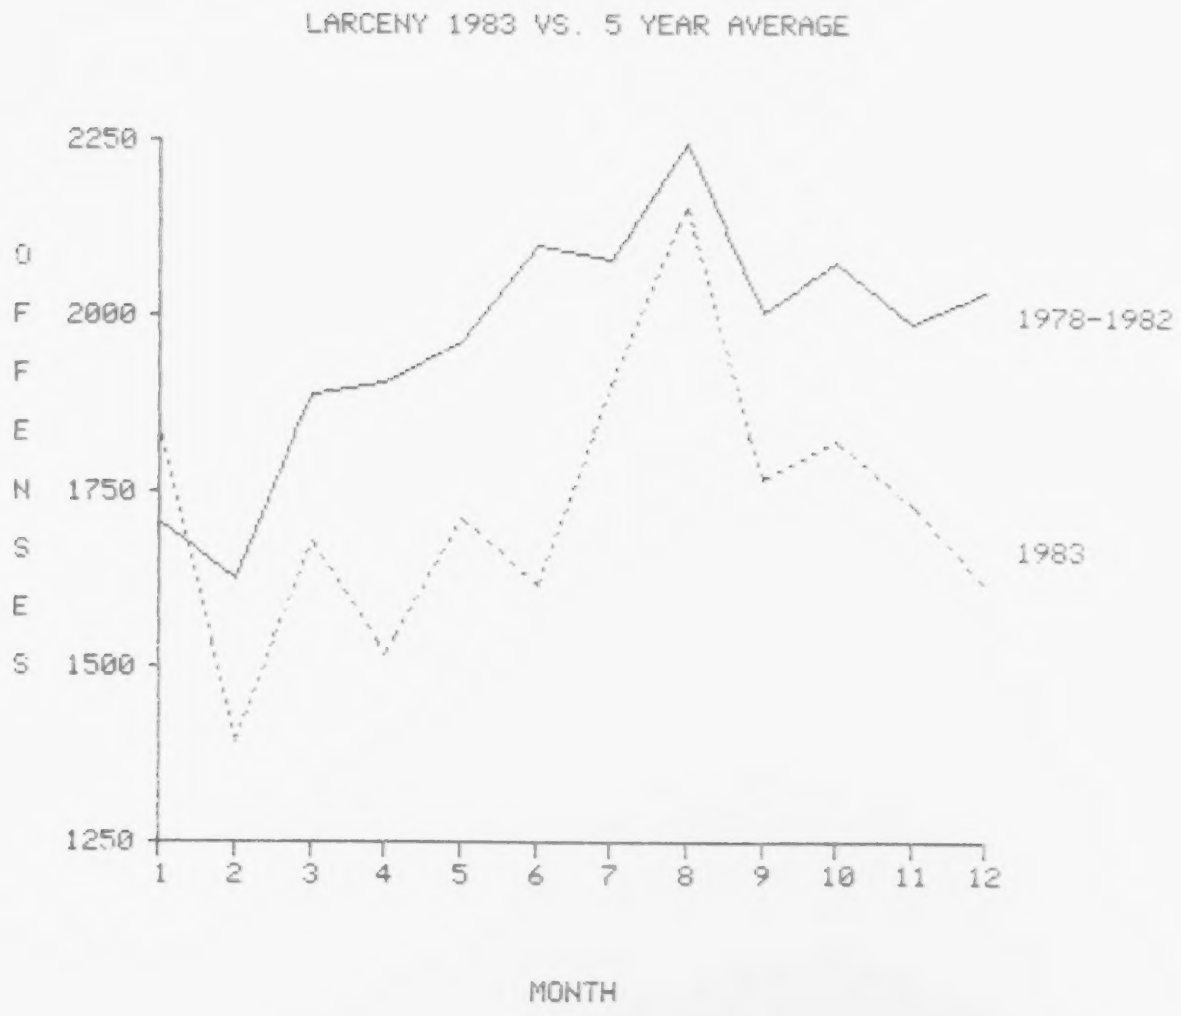
Property crime declined in 1983 to its lowest level since 1973. This decrease is reflected in the monthly levels in 1983 which were 392 offenses per month below the 1978-1982 average monthly levels. The highest levels of property crime were in January, July and August, with the other months showing relatively little variation.

PROPERTY CRIME 1983 VS. 5 YEAR AVERAGE



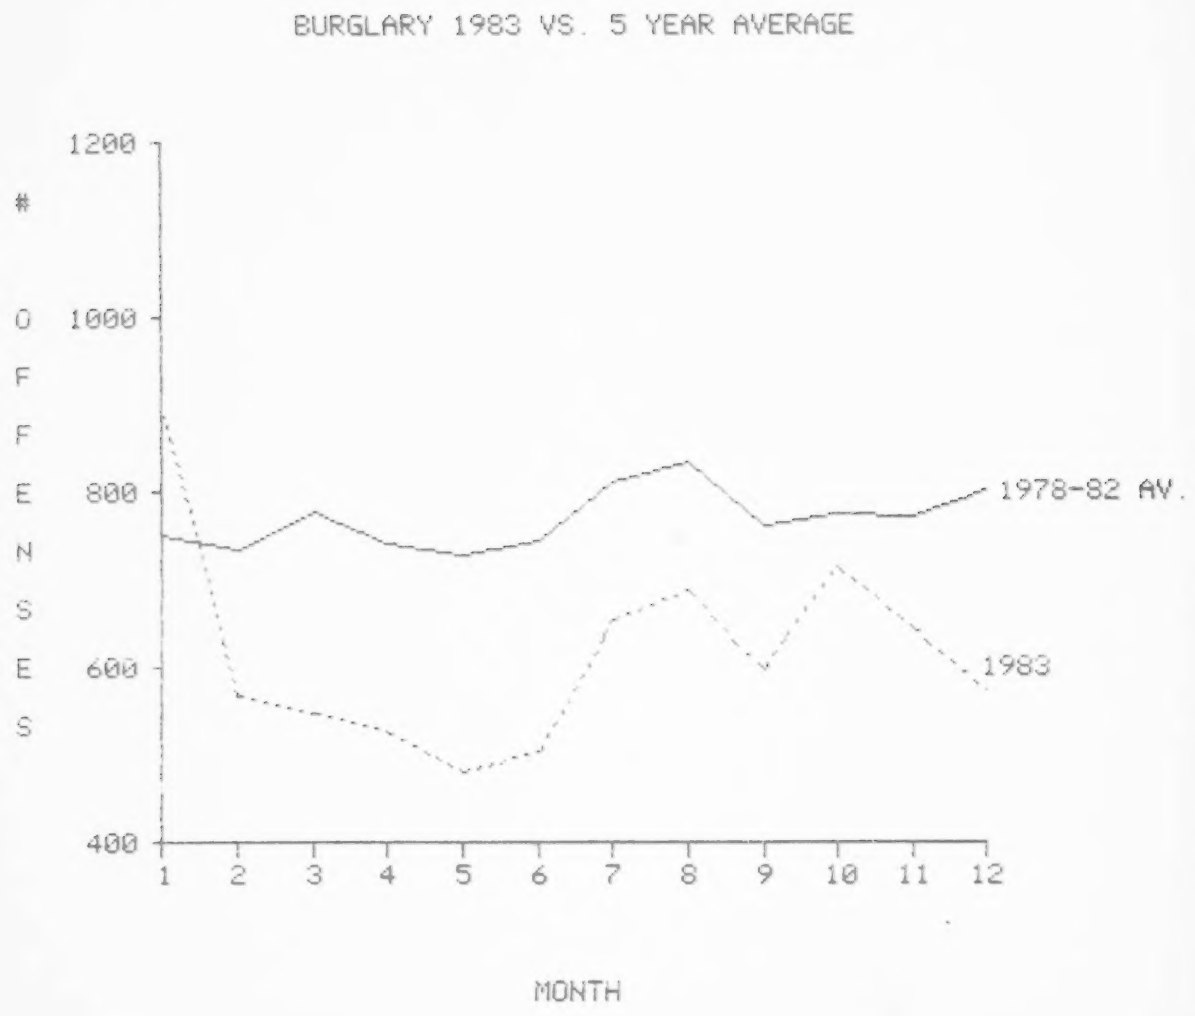
LARCENY

All months in 1983, with the exception of January, had larceny levels below similar months in the 1978-1982 periods. The patterns of seasonality for the two periods is very similar. Larceny levels rose slightly in the spring months, peaked in July, and then returned to previous lower levels.



BURGLARY

Burglary levels in 1983 displayed very little variation. However, while the same degree of seasonality is evident in both curves, the 1983 monthly levels dropped by an average of 153 offenses below the 1978-1982 average monthly levels.



MOTOR VEHICLE THEFT

Motor vehicle thefts declined to the lowest annual level in 10 years. This decline is evident in an examination of the monthly levels of 1983. They fell by an average of 53 offenses per month when compared to the 1978-1982 levels. January through June showed very little variation in thefts while the summer months had the highest levels.
